

Math for the people, by the people.

little Picard theorem

| | |
|------------------|---------------------|
| Canonical name | LittlePicardTheorem |
| Date of creation | 2013-03-22 13:15:20 |
| Last modified on | 2013-03-22 13:15:20 |
| Owner | Koro (127) |
| Last modified by | Koro (127) |
| Numerical id | 5 |
| Author | Koro (127) |
| Entry type | Theorem |
| Classification | msc 32H25 |

The range of a nonconstant entire function is either the whole complex plane \mathbb{C} , or the complex plane with a single point removed. In other words, if an entire function omits two or more values, then it is a constant function.